

ITALY DECLARES WAR ON TURKEY

Relations Between the Two Nations

STRAINED TO BREAKING POINT

Following Long Disputes Over Rights—Both Sides Seem Ready.

BRITISH RUSS CONSUMMATED

Athens, Greece, Aug. 21.—Italy to-day declared war against Turkey. Simultaneously with this news came the announcement that the British army, through a giant ruse, has captured and destroyed the main line of communications between Constantinople and the Turkish forts on the Gallipoli Peninsula. The ammunition and food supply route of the Turks is severed and the army is reported demoralized.

Italy's declaration came at the end of a short Cabinet session concerning the demands that Italian reservists be permitted to leave Turkey without restriction. No reply was made by the Sublime Porte and action was immediate. The meeting at Rome was held amid scenes of great excitement, the populace being eager for strife with the Turks.

Although Italy declared war on Austria on May 24, and hostilities between the two countries began immediately, there has never been any declaration of war between Italy and Germany, the ally of Austria, and until now, Italy and Turkey, the allies of the central Powers, nominally have been at peace.

Friction between Turkey and Italy, however, has been in evidence since shortly after the latter's entry into the war. Early in June there were reports that Italian consuls were gradually leaving Turkey and that American officials were taking over the task of looking out for Italian interests. Later charges were made that the Ottoman Government was preventing these consuls from leaving and that similar coercion was being exerted over Italian civilians who wished to quit Turkish soil.

On July 20 advices came from Rome that the Italian Government had addressed a note to the United States asking it to use its influence to protect Italian subjects in the Ottoman domains. The complaint that they were being prevented from leaving was reiterated.

Two days later the Italian Cabinet met for the supposed purpose of discussing the situation as regarded Turkey and almost coincidentally the Italian Government began to gather evidence intended to show that Turkey had violated the treaty of Lausanne, an undertaking according to the terms of which she pledged herself to withdraw all Turkish troops and officers from the Cyrenaica District in Tripoli and help bring about the submission of the Senusli tribesmen in this locality. Instead of doing this, it was alleged, Enver Pasha the Turkish Minister of War, last March sent his brother, Nuri Bey, to foment rebellion.

On August 3 the Italian Ambassador at Constantinople made another protest to Turkey relative to the attitude of the Ottoman authorities toward Italian subjects. It was stated that Italian Consuls were still being detained in Turkey. At that time the tension between Italy and Turkey was becoming more acute daily. It was announced on August 5 that Italy had asked for categorical explanations concerning Turkey's alleged refusal to withdraw her troops from the Cyrenaica district in Tripoli, and it was charged that Turkey was pursuing what was described as her usual policy of procrastination.

In official circles in Rome, the feeling was held that hostilities on the part of Italy might begin at any moment, as her last note to Turkey was almost in the character of an ultimatum. Shortly after this it was reported that a declaration of war by Italy against Turkey would be simultaneous with the sending of about 150,000 men to the aid of the Franco-British force on the Gallipoli Peninsula.

It was announced on August 19 that a strong squadron of fast Italian cruisers was being held in readiness to sail from Taranto, Italy, at a moment's notice. It was stated that it was expected the warships would be sent against Turkey if the latter country declined to satisfy Italy's demands for the release of Italian subjects held in the Ottoman Empire.

A meeting of the Italian Cabinet was held yesterday (Friday) and at that time Baron Sonnino, Italian Minister of Foreign Affairs, presented an exhaustive report on the Turkish situation. He asserted that the Turkish provocations had become intolerable. The Cabinet's decision was kept secret. Dispatches to-day stated that the Italian Ambassador at Constantinople had been instructed to hand to the Porte a note asking for a formal categorical statement as to departure of Italians from Turkish possessions. The note was in the nature of an ultimatum.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE BY STORM NEAR EVANSVILLE

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 21.—In Vanderburg county approximately 250,000 bushels of corn, or one-third of the crop in the county, has been ruined by the winds and rains of the last four days, according to William Rahm, a Government crop reporter for this district. The rains stopped here this afternoon. The Ohio river rose two feet here during the day, but the local Government forecaster does not believe there is enough water in sight to cause a serious flood. Reports from the bottom districts say that the damage to the corn crop will be the worst in many years. White, Wabash and Patoka rivers continue to rise at a rapid rate, and all creeks in this section are out of their banks. A great deal of wheat in shock has been destroyed or badly damaged. Farmers living along Green river, in Kentucky, have also experienced considerable damage from wind and rain.

ENGLAND LETS DOWN BARS ON GERMAN TOYS

New York, Aug. 21.—American importers of German toys regard the prospect of obtaining these goods from Germany as more hopeful owing to a recent announcement from London that a shipment of $600,000 worth of such goods would be allowed to come through from Rotterdam. The only difficulty, the importers said, had been the British Order-in-Council, which restricted trade between Germany and the United States.

American buyers who have visited the German toy manufacturers this year say that Germany is still making enough toys to supply the American demand, especially since the Russians and English have stopped buying them. Only enough German dolls to supply one year's demand are kept in stock in this country and it was said to-day that unless the British Government allows new dolls to be brought from Germany, American girls will have to be satisfied with American dolls next Christmas.

Rockport Fair Called Off.

Continued rainfall at Rockport, Ind., last week compelled the directors of the Rockport fair to call off the fair for the season. The downpour was so steady that it was impossible to hold the fair events with any degree of satisfaction. It was out of the question to attempt any of the speed rings because of the heavy condition of the race track. The directors expect to give another fair in the early part of October, providing the weather is suitable.

GERMANY'S REPLY TO THE U. S. NOTE

Is the Sinking Of Another Big Liner.

SITUATION APPEARS CRITICAL

Captain Of Steamer Says He Was Positively Given No Warning.

WASHINGTON MUCH AGITATED

London, Aug. 20.—At least five passengers, two of whom were Americans, and forty members of the crew lost their lives when the White Star liner Arabic was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine off Fastnet yesterday morning. Nine other passengers are missing and are believed to have perished.

The two Americans who went down with the ship were Mrs. Josephine Brugulere, of New York, and Edmund T. Wedd. Mrs. Brugulere was thrown into the water and was kept afloat for some time by her son Louis, who was forced to relinquish his hold when he was struck by a piece of wreckage. Nothing was seen of Wood after the steamer was struck.

Most of the missing members of the crew belonged to the engineer's staff. They remained at their posts and went down with the ship.

Capt. Finch and the other officers of the Arabic assert that the submarine gave them no warning. They declared the torpedo was fired as they were going to the rescue of the steamer Dunstley, which had just been torpedoed, presumably by the same submarine.

That the loss of life was not much heavier was due to the preparations made by the officers in view of the possibility of an attack while passing through the war zone, to the fine weather which prevailed and to the splendid discipline maintained by the crew. Life belts had been placed on the decks and the lifeboats swung out.

As soon as the ship was struck rafts were flung over the side. Many of the passengers and crew who were thrown into the water climbed on board these rafts or were dragged onto them by persons already upon them.

The Americans who reached Queenstown were cared for by the United States Consul. With the other passengers they left Ireland for England to-night. They lost all their baggage and many of them were borrowed clothing until the Consul had provided for them.

The Arabic carried 2,813 bags of mail, mostly for the United States. The mail included several hundred bags from Sweden, Norway, Holland, Switzerland, Spain and other countries.

The Arabic was one of fourteen British steamers sunk during the last forty-eight hours. It was reported this evening that the Boxc of the White Star Line, also had been sunk, but this later was denied. Three Norwegian and one Spanish steamer engaged in trade with England also were sent to the bottom.

Washington Wrought Up.
Washington, Aug. 20.—Eight names now appear on the State Department's list of American passengers not found among survivors of the lost liner Arabic.

Tension increased in official quarters here when consular messages forwarding affidavits of American survivors of the British liner Arabic brought definite information that the vessel was torpedoed without warning, and that eight Americans had been lost.

The attitude of the American Government for the moment is receptive, anxiously awaiting accurate details and reserving judgment as to whether the action was "deliberately unfriendly." The final decision rests with President Wilson.

Judgment Suspended.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Judgment still is suspended by the United States Government on the torpedoing of the liner Arabic with a loss of two American lives.

Until official information on which to base the course to be pursued arrives there will be no statement of the Government's position, and high officials will not discuss the subject.

Both President Wilson and Secretary Lansing were silent to-day, the latter dismissing interviewers with a negative answer when asked whether any additional reports had been received from Ambassador Page. It was understood to-night that the all-important report awaited before the United States determines whether Germany has committed a "deliberately unfriendly act," is expected from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin.

LEO FRANK'S BODY LAID TO REST NEAR BROOKLYN

New York, Aug. 20.—The body of Leo M. Frank, who was lynched at Marietta, Ga., was buried in Mount Carmel cemetery, Brooklyn. The automobile hearse and the cars carrying the immediate relatives of the dead man traveled at a high rate of speed over the six-mile route from the home of Frank's parents to the cemetery in a vain attempt to elude newspaper men and photographers. Frank's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Frank, the widow and Frank's sister, Mrs. Otto Stern, and her husband occupied the automobile that followed the hearse. A dozen other relatives and friends occupied three additional automobiles.

A crowd of scarcely more than 100 people was in front of the Frank home when the body was carried out at 9:10 o'clock. Twenty minutes later, the hearse had arrived at the cemetery, and within thirty minutes from the time the funeral had started the last of the burial services were concluded.

About forty curious persons were in the cemetery when Frank's body arrived, and they crowded close to the grave during the services. Perfect order was maintained both at the Frank home and at the cemetery, and the police on hand at both places found nothing to do.

Mrs. Lucile Frank, the widow, appeared calm and restrained until the burial service was concluded. Then she collapsed and was carried to an automobile. The services were conducted by Rabbi Alexander E. Lyons, of Brooklyn, and Rabbi David Marx, of Atlanta.

LAST SURVIVING WIFE OF BRIGHAM YOUNG DIES

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 21.—Eliza Burgess Young, last survivor of Brigham Young's wives, died at her home here last night. She was 87 years old, a native of Lancashire, England, and had lived in Utah since 1848.

Her death closes the estate of the noted Mormon leader, who died in 1877. His will provided a life annuity for each of the nineteen wives who survived him.

The estate, amounting to about a million dollars, after the settlement of claims, was incorporated into a trust company, which discharged the provisions of the will.

DEMAND FOR COAL PUTS MANY MORE MEN TO WORK

Pittsburg, Penn., Aug. 23.—Increased the steel trade as a whole is in the working force at more than a dozen mines in this district being augmented by about 7,500 men, all on full time, during the past two weeks, according to estimates of leading coal operators. They declare that coal production in the Pittsburg district now is at a higher rate than any time this year.

Shipments to the lakes have increased the steel trade as a whole is taking a tonnage fully equal to the busiest season of 1913, and the fire brick and other industries not affected by the European war, have enlarged their consumption, so the demand is rapidly approaching a point where the mines will have difficulty in meeting it promptly, they assert.

"Moonlight Schools."

Owensboro, Ky., Aug. 21.—More than half of the teachers in attendance at the Daviess County Teachers' Institute volunteered to teach the illiterates in their districts by the "moonlight school" method. Supt. McFarland, McHenry Rhoads, Supt. Shultz, Instructor Green and others spoke on the subject of "moonlight schools," and all of them paid tribute to Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, the originator of the idea. It is believed that every school district in Daviess county will be provided with an instructor for the "moonlight schools."

Two American marines were washed overboard from the battleship New Hampshire and drowned while the ship was sailing through the gulf hurricane, somewhere south of the Florida coast.

WILL WORK OUT MILITARY POLICY

As Part Of the Prepared- ness Plan.

A COUNCIL TO BE ORGANIZED

By President—Will Embrace Three Cabinet Members, Eight Congressmen.

ALSO FOUR MILITARY EXPERTS

Washington, Aug. 21.—A council of national defense will form a part of the President's "reasonable and practicable" scheme of military preparedness. The creation of the council, pledged by the Baltimore convention platform, will be undertaken on the eve of a campaign in which the roll will be called on Democratic promises.

The President, through conferences with members of his Cabinet and the heads of the military committees of Congress will, in effect, create a council of national defense before Congress has an opportunity to place its official approval on the plan. Under plans for such a council, which have been formulated in Congress heretofore, but which were never enacted into law, the council will be headed by the President and will include the Secretaries of State, War and Navy, eight members of Congress, comprising the heads of the committees having to do with military appropriations, and four military experts, the chief of staff of the army, the chief of naval operations and the heads of the Army and Navy War Colleges.

Such a council is designed to work out a military policy. Neither the army nor the navy has been developed in line with a fixed policy. The haphazard whims of Congress have constituted the only policy.

Officers of both branches of the military service have had fixed policies in mind and have adhered to them for a number of successive years, making their recommendations in line with these broad but definite plans. For the most part these recommendations never emerged from the category of tentative plans. A council of national defense would be empowered to draft a policy to which the army and navy would be expected to adhere, for a few years at least, and, after the acceptance of such a policy, it would require additional tenacity for Congress to make notable changes in plans.

Practically every important power in the world except the United States now has such a council.

The recommendation of legislation along this line may tend to break down opposition within the Democratic ranks, provided there remains in Congress, after the experience of the last two years, any respect whatever for platform pledges. The Baltimore platform of 1912 said:

"We approve the measures reported by the Democratic leaders in the House of Representatives for the creation of a council of national defense which will determine a definite naval program, with a view to increased efficiency and economy."

For the purposes of the council, the world must be regarded as a potential enemy in making plans for national defense. In past years the plans have not included the building of a navy sufficient to cope with that of Great Britain.

At present the emergencies which the United States might be called upon to meet are largely unknown quantities, because the nations at war in Europe have been adding to their naval power to an unknown degree, and it is probable that only after the return of peace will military experts in the United States be able to learn exactly what offensive strength confronts them in the case of each nation.

NANCY HANKS IS DEAD— FAMOUS TROTTER MARE

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 21.—Nancy Hanks, the world's champion trotter from 1892 to 1904, with a record of 2:04, died here at the age of 29 years at Hamburg Place, stock farm of John E. Madden, which had been her home for many years. Mr. Madden did not buy her until long after the close of her turf career and after she had ceased to breed. He wished simply to see that she was made comfortable in her declining years, and receiving his reward in the prestige given to her in the Hamburg Place horse cemetery beside Hamburg Belle, 2:01½, the thoroughbred mare imp and other turf celebrities. A monument inscribed with her record will be placed over the grave and surmounted with a miniature statue of her in bronze, which was made before her death.

FUNERAL HELD 21 YEARS AFTER DEATH—HAD DREAM

Dawson Springs, Ky., Aug. 21.—A strange funeral service was held at the Baptist church at Silent Run, ten miles from this place. Milton Sisk died at his home in Hopkins county twenty-one years ago and at his request no funeral service was to be held until the one hundredth anniversary of his birth. Yesterday was the date and his grandson, the Rev. E. G. Sisk, of Clay, Ky., preached the sermon.

The service was conducted to fulfill a dream that Milton Sisk had 38 years ago. He dreamed he was one hundred years old and died and his funeral was preached by a grandson on the elder Sisk's one hundredth birthday.

Just before his death he requested his family not to have any funeral service when he died, that he had faith in his dream and believed that in time one of his grandsons would be a preacher, and he wanted him to preach the funeral on the hundredth anniversary of his birth.

At the time of the dream the Rev. Mr. Sisk, who preached the funeral, was only two years old. There were 150 of Mr. Sisk's descendants at the funeral service. The audience numbered 600.

REWARD OF $1,500 FOR FIRST THREE OF MOB

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 19.—Gov. Harris to-night proclaimed a reward of $1,500 for the first three persons convicted of participation in the lynching of Leo M. Frank. At the same time he issued a statement declaring he would do all in his power to apprehend the perpetrators of the "unfortunate occurrence."

In defense of the State authorities the Governor pointed out that the prison farm from which Frank was abducted was not constructed to withstand attack from the outside, and declared that the complete secrecy with which the lynchers made their careful preparations made impossible any defense which might have saved the prisoner.

It is not believed any further action will be taken in the way of an investigation at the State prison. The members of the State Prison Commission were on a visit to the institution when the attack occurred and have held that the prison officials were powerless to prevent the attacking party from carrying out its purpose.

Rotting In Shock.

Boulevard, Ind., Aug. 21.—The continued rains of the last several days are ruining thousands of bushels of wheat which still remains in the shock. Millers are complaining of the quality of wheat, but have been paying $1.03 a bushel owing to the fact that farmers are refusing to turn loose of their supply. The millers and wheat buyers say that they have bought less wheat this year than ever before. Thousands of acres of corn which were planted late may not have time to mature.

FRIGHTFUL RUIN IN STORM'S PATH

Galveston, Texas, Is Again
Victim Of Wave.

THOUSAND FEET OF SEA WALL

Swept Away and Damage To City Is Estimated At
$15,000,000.

MANY LIVES LOST IN FLOOD

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 18.—Cheering news was brought to this city tonight in a message that was flung to thousands of anxious persons who had friends and relatives in the storm-stricken city of Galveston—"only fourteen dead in Galveston."

Galveston has undergone one of the severest storms in the annals of the Gulf of Mexico, and has emerged battered and sorely burdened, with financial loss, but saved so far as life and death are concerned by its gigantic sea wall.

The water mains leading to the city's supply wells at Alta Loma, eighteen miles over on the mainland, have been broken, and the available supply is fast diminishing, adding to the discomforts.

The first messenger from the island to the mainland reached Houston today, bringing a summary of the results of the storm which began Monday afternoon and raged with unabated fierceness until dawn Tuesday.

A thousand feet of the sea wall which skirts the southern side of the city have been torn away, and the causeway which connects Galveston with the outside world has been cut in two at the drawbridge.

Three fires have done great damage and the city is without adequate water supply.

Those who attempt to estimate the financial loss the city has undergone say that it will equal that of the 1900 storm, which was estimated at $15,000,000.

For more than forty-eight hours Galveston was wholly out of touch with the world, except for a few feeble wireless messages which told but scraps of news. Shortly after 6 o'clock Monday night the wires went down after several dispatches to the outside world told of the increasing vigor of the storm which had been brewing all the afternoon. From that time until late to-day only the wireless has been able to send a few fragments of fact from the United States transport Buford to the army wireless station at San Antonio.

Despite the fact that a thousand feet of the wall was battered away Galveston attributes its salvation as a city to the big dyke which was built a few years after the storm of 1900.

The Mayor proclaimed the city under martial law, and after a survey of the losses announced that Galveston would not call on other communities for aid.

The surprisingly low loss of life is due probably to the lesson of 1900. The population Monday night sought refuge in the stronger buildings of the city, whereas in the disastrous storm of fifteen years ago the residents remained in their homes, feeling secure against the gale which took the lives of 6,000.

All the city's resorts, bath houses and beach amusements have been swept away. The Murdock, the Breakers and the Surf, bath houses, each of which was a commodious frame structure, were demolished and heaped upon the boulevard in debris.

Huddled near the beach boulevard, from Twenty-first to Twenty-sixth streets, was a row of small shops, booths, dancing pavilions, restaurants and hotels. These are reported to have been destroyed. To the west and to the east of this section were summer cottages, skirting the boulevard, all of which are said to have been total losses.

The loss to the city port facilities has been enormous and all kinds of craft have suffered. The United States transport McClelland is high aground on Pelican Island, an artificial spot north of Galveston, just across the ship channel. Many vessels have been capsize and several reported as destroyed.

NATION HELPLESS IN FACE OF FOREIGN WAR

Plattsburg, N. Y., Aug. 20.—An army of a European nation at war with the United States could land 1,000,000 men on the Atlantic seaboard, north of Virginia, capture New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and New England and hold those States for years against any army this country could raise. Col. Edwin F. Glenn, chief of staff of the Department of the East, told the amateur soldiers attending the military camp of instruction here.

Col. Glenn was talking of the unpreparedness of the United States for war and pointed out that an enemy, after capturing the Eastern States, could entrench themselves along a 300-mile front extending from Erie, Pa., to Chesapeake Bay in this territory, he said, they would have the majority of the wealth and factories of the country.

If it became necessary, Col. Glenn said, for the United States to defend itself, the country's only hope was in a trained and well organized citizen soldiery.

ODD BITS OF NEWS.

Allentown, Pa.—Paul and Fred Goldsmith, of Connaught, L. I., took refuge in a barn during a storm. The lightning struck a pillar against which Paul was leaning, ran down it and ripped the man's shirt entirely from his body. Paul's body was scorched, but Fred was knocked unconscious.

Lake City, Fla.—Georgia Garner, 9 year old, coughed up a small metal doll she had swallowed three years ago.

Topeka, Kan.—A. C. Hartell, police court reporter, had a tip that some persons had buried beer in their back yard. He obtained a grave digger's spade, and stealthily entered the yard. After much labor in what appeared to be a newly made grave, he dug up three chickens which the people that day had buried.

Wakarusa, Ind.—When Coroner Dr. Walkinshaw performed an autopsy on a young woman following her mysterious death, he found that her left lung was no larger than a lemon; that her right lung was one-quarter normal size; that her heart was about one-half normal size and that her liver was many times larger than it should have been, extending to her fourth rib and up into her shoulder. The woman was 21 years old, and died of poisoning of the intestines.

Middletown, N. Y.—To celebrate their eighty-sixth birthday, Mrs. J. B. Barrett, of Edmonston, and Mrs. Nathan V. Brund, of Leonardsville, will be rocked in the presence of their guests in the old cradle in which they were rocked when babies. They claim to be the oldest twins in the State.

Temple, Tex.—Cutting roses in her garden, Mrs. Ed C. Talley heard her baby cry in the house. She started to run indoors, tripped over a lawnmower and fell. The scissors in her hand pierced her heart, killing her instantly.

Craue, Mo.—W. H. Hilton, 65 years old, has a peculiar affliction which prevents his speaking to persons near him. He can talk to animals or persons at a distance.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Sitting on the doorstep of her home, Mrs. Madeline Balsina heard her baby utter a cry above her. She looked up to see the child in a window on the third floor lose its balance and fall. The mother sprang under the window in time to catch the child. Neither was injured, beyond a slight cut on the baby's lip.

TEXAS CITY ARMY CAMP DESTROYED

Twenty-Six U. S. Troopers
Drowned

BY THE GREAT GULF STORM

Civilians Also Lose Lives—
All Homes Of Enlisted Men Swept Away.

AWFUL WORK OF HURRICANE

Washington, Aug. 18.—Destruction of the United States army camp at Texas City by the great gulf storm, with a loss of 26 soldiers and a number of unidentified civilians, was reported to the War Department today by Maj. Gen. Bell, commanding the 8,000 men of the second division stationed there.

At the time the report was sent by radio to Houston Gen. Bell said the troops had been so scattered in their flight to high ground before the rising waters of the flood that it was impossible to say whether more lives had been lost. All of the homes of the families of officers and enlisted men had been wiped away, but temporary shelter was being provided in the town proper for the women and children.

Late to-night Gen. Bell telegraphed from Houston, announcing his arrival there after an exciting trip overland. He said conditions at Texas City were gradually being restored to normal, but still was unable to announce definitely the number lost. He was preparing to return to Texas City to-night and resume charge of the task of putting his command in order and aiding the civil authorities with their problems.

The General suggested that a transport now at New York be sent to the gulf with supplies to be used by the army if not needed by civilian victims of the storm. No action has been taken so far by the department.

The General gave such information as he had been able to collect about the situation at Galveston. This message was preceded by the following relayed wireless dispatch from Texas City, the last sent by Gen. Bell before he started for Houston:

"All mounted portions of command were so scattered the night of the storm, seeking ground high enough to save animals, that not all are assembled yet and impossible to account for all of them so far. Not definitely authenticated, but many rumors have been coming in reporting losses here and there. Possibly some of them may turn out to be true. A few more casualties have been authenticated among civil population, but it seems probable that loss of life has not been very great."

"Not possible to care for homeless families of officers and enlisted men in Texas City. Many officers' families lost everything and nearly all the families of enlisted men lost all. Am endeavoring to find a building big enough to hold all the latter and will organize a mess with soldiers to care for them temporarily at Government expense."

"Officers' families will be provided for at their expense at Houston or elsewhere. Shall ship all families out. Not possible to bring order out of chaos until all families gotten out of Texas City. Ample accommodations in Texas City and community to care for homeless civilian families."

Tip To Society Editors.

Society editors may find inspiration in the following from the Rushville News:

"The bride and groom presented a regal spectacle, never equaled since the proud Cleopatra sailed down the perfumed, lotus-bearing Nile in her gilded pageant to meet March Anthony, while all the world stood agape at the unheard of triumph. To describe the bride's costume beggars the English language, and imagination fails faint and feeble before the Herculean task. She was gorgeously arrayed in a calico house dress, and a pair of lace curtains floated like a dream about her figure."—[Austin (Texas) American.]

A WOMAN AND BOY HANG

THEMSELVES IN WARREN

Bowling Green, Ky., Aug. 18.—Two young people of this county today committed suicide by hanging.

The body of Miss Tommie Isbell, 33, was found early this morning, suspended from a rafter in a barn, on her father's farm in the county. Grief over the death of her mother, which occurred a year ago, is believed to be the cause of her act.

Garland Logan, 12 years old, today hanged himself in a barn on his father's farm near Smith's Grove. Members of his family, becoming alarmed at his continued absence from home, started a search for him which ended with the discovery of the body. He had been reproved for some trivial matter and it is believed this may have caused him to take his life.

Sallow complexion comes from bilious impurities in the blood and the fault lies with the liver and bowels—they are torpid. The medicine that gives results in such cases is Limerino. It is a fine liver stimulant and bowel regulator. Price 50c. Sold by Wilbur Mitchell, Beaver Dam.

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

Peter Radford
On Church and State

The recent action of one of the leading churches of this nation, in annual convention, demanding that the laymen vote only for candidates for office whose views coincide with those of the clergy on one of the leading political issues, and direct and indirect efforts of other church organizations to interfere with the freedom of the ballot, make one of the greatest perils of this age, and present a problem that should receive thoughtful consideration of both laymen and citizens.

Suckling babes may well squirm in their cradles when ministers in convention assembled release the hearts of men and grah them by the throat, for Christianity has broken down, religion has become a farce and the pulpit a failure. When the church substitutes force for persuasion, command for conviction and coercion for reason, the sheriff had as well pass the sacrament, plain-clothes men take charge of the altar and policemen bury the dead, for why a church?

It is as dastardly a crime against government for a minister to undertake to deliver the votes of his parishioners to a candidate, as it is for a ward healer to deliver a block of votes to a political boss, and both ought to be prosecuted, for the law should be no respecter of persons.

It is as objectionable for a convention of ministers to seek by canonical law to control the votes of church members as it would be for a convention of manufacturers to issue orders for their employees to vote for a certain candidate. Such conduct is offensive to decency, business morals and a crime against society. Any convention, whether composed of saints or sinners, rich or poor, white or black, that seeks to prostitute power and coerce conscience ought to be broken up by the police and its leaders arrested for treason.

A crime by any other name is a crime just the same. An ecclesiastical robe cannot sanctify treason, authority to preach does not carry with it license to become a political ringster, or the right to teach us how to pray give a permit to tell us how to vote. No man in joining the church should sacrifice his citizenship, forfeit his constitutional liberties or subordinate his duty to the state. The earth many times has been drenched with the blood of our forefathers fighting to throw off the ecclesiastical yoke from the state, and the suggestion of a return to these medieval conditions with their horror and their torture should not be tolerated for a moment.

Laws should be passed prohibiting any preacher, or combination of preachers, from delivering or attempting to deliver their membership or congregation to any candidate for office, and suitable legislation should be passed preserving the sanctity of the pulpit from political vandalism. It is as much a menace to church and state for a politician to occupy the pulpit as for a minister to preach a political sermon. He has no more right to preach his politics from the pulpit than a teacher has to teach his politics to his pupils. A preacher cannot make political trickery righteous by usage any more than he can make profanity respectable by practice. It is one of the ironies of fate that a preacher may become a scandal as well as a glory to civilization.

GERMAN TELLS OF SINKING GOLIATH

Gives Details Of a Mid-night Exploit.

SLIPPED THROUGH THE LINES

Of British Ships By Careful Maneuvering—Struck Deadly Blow.

HAD A THRILLING EXPERIENCE

Constaninople, Aug. 20.—Capt. Liout, Rudolph Firle, commander of the Turkish torpedo boat Mauvenet-Millet, which sent the British line-ship Goliath to the bottom of Morte Bay off Sid-el-Bahr, in the Dardanelles, told his own story of his exploit to the Associated Press correspondent, amplifying with some interesting details the earlier accounts.

Capt. Firle is a young man of 33 years, but looks no more than 26. He is a Rhinelander, slight in build, and speaks English almost without foreign accent. The torpedo boat he commanded was one of four vessels of the same class which were transferred from German to Turkish ownership several years ago. Before her change in ownership she was known as the "S-165."

When asked to relate his experience in sinking the Goliath, Capt. Firle proceeded with this straightforward matter-of-fact narrative:

"The British ships of the Dardanelles entrances were causing the Turkish troops near Sid-el-Bahr some trouble. It was decided that something would have to be done to remove a little of the one-sidedness of the affair.

"Shortly after midnight, May 12-13, the Mauvenet slipped through the Turkish mine fields and approached the British fleet of warships and transports which was lying in and south of Morte Bay.

"As we passed one of the fast promontories the British fleet, with every porthole lit and projector playing, it gave all the impression of a large city—let me say like Kiel on Rerata Day.

"The British ships had on that day kept up the bombardment of the Turkish positions until after 11 o'clock at night. On the way down, I held a council with my two Lieutenants as to the time of night we were to make our attack. We thought at first that the noise of the bombardment which was then still going on, would aid us. Later we decided to wait until the weary crews had turned in, expecting that after so strenuous a day's work they would be too tired to exercise more than a perfunctory vigilance.

"It was proven shortly afterwards that this theory was correct.

"We continued down the stream at a leisurely gait of from seven to eight knots an hour. I ordered this because I wanted to get as close to the British as possible before they would discover the presence of an enemy's craft. Driving a torpedo boat's machinery at full tilt causes a great deal of noise and what is worse, blows too many sparks out of the funnels.

"It was about 12:30 midnight when I saw ahead of me the outlines of two British destroyers. They were patrolling the strait. I am sure that they must have seen us. But our low speed evidently fooled them. They held to their course and I let the Mauvenet glide through between them.

"Beyond the destroyers we sighted eight torpedo boats, churning through the Esenkol Bay in pairs, each two keeping in a sort of echelon position. I admit that things began to look very interesting.

"But the eight torpedo boats, like the two destroyers, kept looking after their own business, whatever that may have been. So on we went at the same speed.

"Just as we rounded the northern promontory which helps to form Morte Bay, the silhouettes of two British line-ships came into view. I held the Mauvenet for the bow of the nearest, and kept this course until we were close to her. Naturally, I expected to have my boat detected each instant and have a few shells come her way. Nothing of the sort occurred, however.

"To have a torpedo strike surely it is necessary to have its course run as closely at a right angle to the side of the target as possible. This obliged me to steer to port to escape.

"The Mauvenet was discovered just as her broadside became visible to the lookouts on the British line-ships. A night signal flash began to work. Its long and short blinking spelled out what ordinarily is the Morse letter 'O.'

"I wasn't quite prepared to give an intelligent answer to that, but felt that the inquiring was for me. I got to work with my own night lantern and also spelled 'O,' taking it for granted that a repetition of the signal on my part would at least delay some other action or prevent for a few moments the making of another inquiry.

"The ruse succeeded. After a few seconds delay, the signal man on the Goliath again flashed 'O.' I replied with the same number of dots and dashes, and having now come within 350 to 400 yards of the British vessel, amidships, made up my mind to fire the three torpedo tubes.

"The third 'O' of the Goliath's signal came more speedily than the preceding two. I launched one torpedo, then number two and three—ten seconds apart.

"The first torpedo hit the Goliath well forward. I saw a blinding flash and a cloud of smoke. Before the second torpedo struck—near the forward mast—the vessel had already listed to starboard.

"By the second torpedo an explosion in the interior of the Goliath was caused. Before the third torpedo hit, the vessel was as good as totally lost.

"We started on our return trip with a little better speed but kept the fires down, because I didn't want to have the sparks from the funnels show where we were."

TOTAL 8,430 HOGSHEADS PRIZED AT HENDERSON

Henderson, Ky., Aug. 20.—The seven tobacco firms that purchased tobacco the past season have completed pricing. The total number of hogsheads prized here, last season was 8,430, making the lowest number of hogsheads prized in this city in any season for the last fifteen years. The Gallaher Limited, a Belfast, Ireland, firm, the largest prizor, have a total of 3,106. The John H. Hodge Tobacco Company, buyers for an Italian firm, next with 2,186. The other firms and number of hogsheads follow: William Elliott, 1,404; Martin-Lanester Company, 410; Hodge-Martin Company, 691; A. B. Jarvis & Bro., 387; Noworthy & Argue, 237.

All the tobacco was purchased for foreign shipment and two-thirds of it has been received safely across the waters. The ocean freight rate from this city to Liverpool is $1.60, against seventy cents before war was declared. A large portion of the shipments are loaded on steamers at New Orleans and Tampa.

BAVARIAN SOLDIERS USE BEER BY TRAIN LOADS

Munich, Germany, Aug. 20.—Some idea of the enormous quantity of beer manufactured for the use of Bavarian soldiers in the field can be gathered from the figures of the authorities of the First Bavarian Army Corps, just published.

Munich breweries alone deliver, it is estimated, 140 car loads of beer in kegs and 50 car loads of bottled beer each week. The first contain an average of 1,320 gallons per car load, and the second 55,000 three-quarter-liter bottles. Other breweries deliver 50 car loads of keg beer, 1,420 gallons to a car.

Engaged in making this beer are the Bavarian State Brewery, the Royal Hofbrauhaus, and the State-owned Welphanstaphan Brewery, in addition to many private breweries. The army authorities pay 24 marks (about $5.75) for a keg containing 22 gallons, and 23 marks for a cask containing 50 three-quarter-liter bottles.

BOLD ADVENTURER IS NOW IN EXILE

An Alleged Looter Of Orphans' Trust Fund.

MID-OCEAN ISLE LIVING TOMB

Is Deserted By Woman For Whom He Sold Honor—Scorned By All.

HE FACES MADNESS AND DEATH

Denver, Aug. 14.—An island of Tahiti in the wastes of the Pacific his living tomb!

The scorn of the woman for whom he sacrificed honor and liberty his most vivid memory!

Fear of the madness that comes of Solitude and Despair his constant companion, and the echo of a woman's mocking laugh and cruel jeers she sailed away and left him in exile, haunting him always!

That's the retribution Fate demands of Ellis Thurst, man of many opportunities, trusted official, keeper of orphan's funds, husband of a worthy woman—and plinything and victim of a woman.

The wage Ellis Thurst is paying for his sins out there on the island of Tahiti is heavier and more horrible than death itself. A living death his life has been, since on a sunny day last April he sailed into Papeete, a Tahitian port, well dressed, wads of money in his belt, a gay companion by his side, looking forward to a joyous "honeymoon" in the tropics until "that trouble about the missing orphan's funds blew over."

The dream lasted four days. Love died. Retribution was horn. Thurst began to collect the wages of evil-doing.

His devotion to a Tahitian belle caused the rift in love's lute. On the fourth day of the "honeymoon" the man who robbed the orphans and "rolled" his friends for money to gratify the whims of a vampire was deserted in Papeete.

A shrieking, raving madman he stood on the shore, shaking his fists at the Talume, sailing away to Australia with the laughing, jeering woman for whom he had sold his birthright.

The black men cared for him—with black women he may have found solace for his lost love, his blighted fortune.

A few weeks ago the same ship sailed back past Papeete; the vampire was aboard; she hid in her lair as the steamer touched Papeete; she feared for her life if Thurst saw her. Through the half-open portholes she saw him—her former loved and slave—as he paced more dead than alive along the pier.

"Yes, I saw him there on the dock," she says. "I hid away as we came to port, but through the portholes I could see him watching for me, hoping, perhaps, that I would return to him. He's just a shell of a man now, with eyes on fire, with a light I had never seen there—the light of hunger, despair and longing. "Thurst would give his hope of salvation for a chance to leave that 'living tomb' of his, for a chance to make good again in Denver."

But to go back to the first turn in the road that led Ellis Thurst, man of affairs and manager of the Clayton Orphans trust fund, into the port of ruined men, the harbor of dead hopes.

It was in 1906 he turned from the straight road and it was Helen Faust, known to the police of many cities, who showed him the way.

Helen was beautiful, Thurst was vain; she played on his vanity; he borrowed money, he stole money, he sold a life insurance policy of $20,000, he sold stock bought with his wife's money, and he flung the gold into the lap of his mistress.

Finally Denver began to make life uncomfortable for Thurst and his openly-acknowledged "affinity."

Practically he sought a hiding place for himself and his companion; his love for adventure, almost as strong as his love for his wine and women, pointed the way to the mid-Pacific—to Tahiti, 3,600 miles from San Francisco.

"So we sailed for Tahiti," she said. "Thurst had a belt full of gold. At Papeete, where we landed, we went to Mme. Irvin's hotel—everyone knows the place who has touched at Tahiti.

"There was a young chap from Pittsburgh there. He took Thurst for a sightseeing tour. I didn't see him for four days—then I found him, with a native woman. Ugh! I couldn't stand it.

"When he was asleep I slipped $80 out of his belt and boarded a cargo steamer bound for Auckland.

"He almost went mad when he saw the ship sailing out. I threw him back a laugh from the deck; that was all that was coming to him for the way he treated me."

And the man who sacrificed home, position and honor to win the woman's love, who squandered a fortune in futile endeavor to "keep her from being bored"—well, he's "just a shell of a man," an exile in the port of broken men, a refugee in the haven of dead hopes.

To leave the island that has become a "living tomb" would mean to pass to the living tomb of a prison, for the law will demand its own of the embezzler of orphan's funds.

THE GUARD ALLOWANCE CUT BY GOVERNMENT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—Out of the $4,000,000 appropriated by Congress for the organized militia of the United States for the current fiscal year, Kentucky will receive $69,810.96, about $5,000 less than its allowance for the previous year. According to the statement made here by an official of the War Department the total strength of the Kentucky militia is 1,813 enlisted men. The total allotment to Kentucky is distributed as follows:

Arms, equipments and camp purposes, $34,932.16; promotion of rifle practice, $11,664.05; ammunition for small arms, $9,218.04, and supplies, $23,154.75. Kentucky's allotment for arms, equipments, camp purposes and the promotion of rifle practice, aggregating $46,656.21, under the law appropriating $2,000,000 to be distributed among the several States for that purpose, will be disbursed by the officials of the State. Kentucky's amount is apportioned according to congressional representation.

The $23,154.75 of the $2,000,000 Federal appropriation set aside for purchasing supplies and ammunition that may be extended by Kentucky is determined by the actual strength of the strength of the militia of other States.

Indiana's share this year is $83,251.29, as against $84,302.94 a year ago.

The Clerk Guaranteed It.

"A customer came into my store the other day and said to one of my clerks, 'have you anything that will cure diarrhoea?' and my clerk went and got him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and said to him, 'if this does not cure you, I will not charge you a cent for it.' So he took it home and came back in a day or two—and said he was cured," writes J. H. Berry & Co., Salt Creek, Va. Obtainable everywhere. (Advertisement)

Loan and Lend.

Many errors are committed in the name of usage. That's why, to-day, the dictionaries permit one to use "loan" as a verb instead of "lend."

The highest philological authorities, among whom is Richard Grant White, say that "loan" is absolutely the noun form of the word.

"Lend me a dollar" is correct. Further, when the man has lent you the dollar, you have obtained the loan and, presumably will repay it. We negotiate for loans, and obtain them if the person is willing to lend them to us. One can not loan a loan any more than one can lend a lead. If we insist on using loan as a verb, the word "lend" is so much excess matter in the lexicon.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging

Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave

Up in Despair. Husband

Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Belle Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

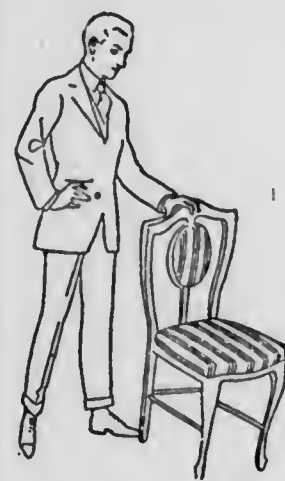

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. Twelve States have adopted Woman Suffrage and four more States will vote upon the subject this fall. It is a matter worthy of thought, for it has become one of the foremost questions of the day.

In the recent Primary three Democratic editors went down in the crash of defeat. However, we have heard of no kicking from the bunch. They all accept their disappointment in a philosophical spirit, characteristic of the clan.

Those of us who, when we were boys, never had any more exhilarating means of locomotion than a little dry-goods-box wagon with a set of wheels sawed from the end of a log, or a pair of homemade stilts, can look at the present generation of little fellows with their tricycles, bicycles and fancy "express" wagons and wonder if they are really getting any more enjoyment out of their playthings than did we whose "stock in trade" was principally the product of pop's old Barlow knife.

Although several men ran for renomination, a hasty glance at the nominees and probable winners indicates that outside of Louisville and Covington, only six of the old members of the last Legislature will be in the next House. This seems to indicate a warning to the new members that the voters do not want a General Assembly anything like the last one, which was noted for its doing nothing policy and inability to accomplish any needed legislation. The next Legislature would do well to just pass upon the mistakes of the last one, without introducing a stack of new bills.

It is with a feeling of genuine sorrow that we record the death of Mr. Lycurgus Barrett, which occurred at Barrett's Ferry last Sunday morning. Mr. Barrett was a man of splendid literary talents, although he had ceased to exercise them in recent years. Thirty years ago he was local editor of The Herald, when it was owned by his brother (long since deceased) and he was one of the leading society men of the town—well educated, polite and always pleasing. Soon after that he married and took up farm work, which he followed till the end. We pause in reverie for a spiritual farewell handshake with our dear old friend of other years.

Democrats of Ohio county should not forget the convention to be held in Hartford next Saturday at 1 p. m. for the purpose of instructing delegates to the State Platform Convention at Louisville, August 31. There should be a large and representative crowd in attendance. It is probable that there will not be any contest whatever in the Louisville convention over the adoption of a platform, but that the meeting will be a great ratification of the nominations made in the recent primary. Democrats should not forget next Saturday at Hartford. According to the vote for Woodrow Wilson in 1912 (2,563) Ohio county is entitled to 26 delegates to the Louisville convention.

The lynching of Leo Frank was a disgrace to the State of Georgia from which it will possibly never recover—not indeed until the participants in it are caught, convicted and properly punished. It was not only cold-blooded murder in its most brutal form, but a flagrant defiance of the law, for the prerogative of a Governor to commute a sentence is as much a part of our organic law as the law itself. Whether or not Frank was guilty, his case had passed beyond the pale of interference except by lawless means. It was the duty of every law-abiding citizen to accept the situation, although thousands of good people believed Leo Frank entirely innocent.

JUDGE BIRKHEAD WILL NOT TRY CONTEST CASE

The Owensboro Inquirer says: Judge T. F. Birkhead will not try the contest case of Lawrence P. Tanner against Ben D. Ringo, over the nomination for Commonwealth's Attorney of this district.

After a careful consideration by the court, Judge Birkhead has decided that he is disqualified to preside in the case, and having already called a special term of court to begin at Hartford on next Monday to try the possum hunter cases, is another reason he gives as to why he cannot preside at the trial.

Judge Birkhead notified Judge Sandidge, attorney for Mr. Ringo, and also Mr. Tanner, of his conclusions, and it was then agreed that Circuit Clerk Harl should notify the Governor at once of the inability of the regular judge to try the case.

It was also agreed by Mr. Tanner and Mr. Ringo that the trial shall begin in Owensboro on Monday, August 30, and that the contestant shall be allowed five days to take proof from that date, unless given further time by the court, and that the contestant's time for taking proof, if he desires to take any, shall begin at the expiration of the time allowed to the contestant.

Circuit Clerk Harl has sent a copy of the order to Acting Governor McDermott, who will have to appoint some Circuit Judge of the State to come to Owensboro and preside at the contest.

SPEAKS GOOD WORD FOR STATE'S ATTORNEY RINGO

The Bowling Green Messenger says:

Numerous contests have been filed against the results in the recent primary election, both on the Democratic and Republican tickets. The grounds are various, but most of them allege fraud in elections. One in particular is that of L. P. Tanner against Ben D. Ringo in the Owensboro district. Those of us who have known Mr. Ringo for many years will be loath to believe that he would be a party to a fraud. His whole life has been that of an honest man and a fearless prosecutor of crime during his twelve years as Commonwealth's Attorney.

Tanner Should Take Lesson.

The Hancock Clarion says: Lawrence P. Tanner has instituted a contest against Ben D. Ringo, for the Democratic nomination for Commonwealth's Attorney in this district. Tanner was defeated by about 200 majority and alleges that incorrect returns were made by the election officers and that money was improperly used in the Primary. Tanner ought to take a lesson from Big Chief Vansant and learn when he is defeated and then get behind the band wagon and push.

Convention Call.

Pursuant to order of the Democratic State Central and Executive Committees, the Democrats of Ohio county are called to meet at the court house in Hartford, Ky., on Saturday, August 28, 1915, at 1 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of electing delegates to attend the platform convention which will be held in Louisville, Ky., on Tuesday, August 31, 1915, at 1 o'clock p. m.

All known Democrats, all independent voters and all minors, who will be legal voters at the November election, 1915, and all voters who declare a purpose to affiliate with the Democratic party in the next State election of 1915, are declared eligible to participate in said mass convention, and to be elected delegates to said State Convention.

Sorghum Fatal To Cows.

Murray, Ky., Aug. 23.—Several fine cows belonging to Clyde Bagwell, a farmer and operator of a dairy near this place, got into Mr. Bagwell's sorghum field and as a result some of them are dead. Dr. C. N. Tyree, veterinary surgeon, went to the place immediately after the discovery, and managed, after a strenuous effort, to save the lives of the cows that were not dead when he arrived.

Bounty On Wolves.

Carthage, Mo., Aug. 23.—A bounty on wolves' scalps has been placed by the Jasper County Court at the instance of farmers southeast of Carthage, who declare that wolves have been killing young stock and thereby causing heavy losses. The court has offered to pay $1.50 for the scalp of each young wolf and $3 for the old ones.

TOLL OF 256 LIVES IN THE TEXAS HURRICANE

Ten Persons Perished In St. Louis—Property Damage Was Immense.

Galveston, Tex., Aug. 22.—A total of 256 known dead residents of Southeast Texas coast points, crews of wrecked craft of all kinds; sixty-five persons missing, many of whom are believed to have perished; damage to crops, buildings, railroads, shipping, livestock and other property, aggregating close to $50,000,000, is the latest estimate of the toll taken by the hurricane which swept this section Monday and Tuesday last. These figures were reached from a careful compilation made to-day of what was considered the most authentic reports of the loss of life and property received since the cessation of the storm.

Missouri's Share.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 22.—Ten persons are known to have perished in the flood that swept the west and southern part of St. Louis and some of the suburbs yesterday; and two persons are missing. Ten bodies were found to-day—one that of a white woman, and nine those of negroes. The missing are negroes.

Five of the bodies were found in the suburb of Ellendale, which adjoins the city on the southwest, and five were found in the manufacturing district in the southwestern part of St. Louis, which is drained by the Des Peres river. The white woman was Mrs. Annie Wagouer, eighty years old, whose body was found under a bed that had been overturned by the rush of water.

By far the greater part of St. Louis was not affected by the storm other than by the inconvenience the heavy downpour caused. Flood damage was limited on the west side of the Mississippi river to a long and narrow strip along the southern, through the southwestern and along the Western parts of the city. Suburbs adjoining this section were damaged.

DRAINAGE TAX NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that an assessment or tax levy of three per cent (3%), based upon the original assessment for cost of construction, &c., was made by the Board of Drainage Commissioners at a meeting held on August 14, 1915, on the lands and each land owner located and within the G. A. Barnes, et al., Drainage District, the M. F. Tichenor, et al., the J. P. Taylor, et al., and the L. M. Ward, et al., Drainage Districts, in Ohio county, Ky. The tax due to this assessment may now be paid to the Treasurer of Ohio county, Ky., without additional cost, but on and after September 22, 1915, the unpaid assessments will be in the hands of the Sheriff of Ohio county, Ky., for collection, when additional cost will necessarily be added.

RUPTURE EXPERT.

Seeley, Who Fitted Czar of Russia, Called to Owensboro.

F. H. Seeley, of Chicago and Philadelphia, the noted truss expert, will be at the Rudd Hotel and will remain in Owensboro Saturday only, Sept. 4th. Mr. Seeley says: "The Spermathe Shield as now used and approved by the United States Government will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, affording immediate and complete relief, but closes the opening in 10 days on the average case. This instrument received the only award in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery, injections, medical treatments or prescriptions. Mr. Seeley has documents from the United States Government, Washington, D. C., for inspection. All charity cases without charge, or if any interested call, he will be glad to show same without charge or fit them if desired. Business demands prevent stopping at any other place in this section. 3212

McChesney Men Lining Up.

From what we can gather, every Democrat in Lincoln county will support the splendid ticket nominated some ten days ago. Supporters of Mr. McChesney are disappointed and there is reason why they should be, but they are rallying to the standard like men and will be found in line when the November election comes. Looks like Stanley's plurality in August will be a small thing as compared with his majority in November. And so mote it be.—[Standard Journal.]

UNDER SEA 70 HOURS—SUBMARINE'S EXPERIENCE

Milan, August 23.—The Italian submarine Neroid, which the Austrians asserted they had sunk, has arrived safely at a port in the Adriatic, having escaped from the Austrian warships.

Her crew suffered a nerve-racking ordeal through the fact that the Neroid was compelled to remain under water for 70 hours because of an accident to her machinery, the commander of the submersible and three men of her crew dying from exhaustion.

The submerged men worked without rest for the 70 hours, at which time the repairs were completed and the vessel rose to the surface. She immediately headed for an Italian naval base. Two more of the crew died on the way to port.

For a great period of the 70 hours the imprisoned men were without food and were in complete darkness. The Neroid, when attacked by the Austrians, was compelled to sink below the waves in great haste, owing to the superior forces arrayed against her.

BUY YOURSELF A NEW OLIVER RIDING BREAKING PLOW and enjoy real luxury in plowing.

It does the work so perfectly and with so little effort on the part of your team that you are always in a happy frame of mind when plowing with the Oliver.

If you don't know positively that these statements are absolutely true, ask any farmer who has used an Oliver. If he doesn't tell you they are true in every sense of the term, don't buy the plow.

A telephone call will bring our demonstrator to your field and he will show you how a real plow operates.

A demonstration places you under no obligation to buy. It must please you and do your work to your entire satisfaction or we don't want to sell it to you.

Mr. Lyeurgus Barrett Dead.
Mr. Lyeurgus Barrett died very suddenly at his home at Barrett's Ferry, this county, last Sunday morning, after a long season of poor health. He had a bad spell on Saturday before but was revived and did not seem any worse than usual Sunday morning. He was sitting in a chair reading when he suddenly collapsed and it was soon seen he was dead. Organic heart trouble seemed to be the direct cause.

Mr. Barrett was 72 years old at the time of his death. He leaves a wife and three children—two daughters and a son. His funeral took place Monday afternoon and his remains were interred in the family cemetery. Services were conducted by Rev. Vanhoy, assisted by Rev. W. H. Foreman, of Hartford. There was a very large crowd in attendance, which attested the high esteem in which he was held. About 30 years ago Mr. Barrett lived in Hartford and was a member of The Herald editorial staff. He was a good citizen and will be greatly missed.

War "Info."

This is a news paragraph we find in several contemporaries of the State. It is of interest these days of talk of probable war: "In the event of any trouble with Mexico or other country that would make necessary mobilization of the whole or a part of the National Guard of the different States, Kentucky's quota of 14,000 will be gathered together at Ft. Thomas, near Covington, in order to facilitate such mobilization, equipment for 4,000 men has been sent to Ft. Thomas. This consists of tents, guns, clothing and other accoutrements."

LET US COME TOGETHER IN BEHALF OF THE PARTY

We still insist that the Democratic platform convention should have been held before the nominees were chosen, so that the people rather than the candidates could have laid down the platform of principles. But it was not done, and the candidates are of one mind on most of the important matters. The convention itself will be rather a tame affair in consequence, but we would like to see a great outpouring of Democrats in Louisville on August 31. We can shake hands and exchange ideas and renew acquaintances of the long ago. Since this new-fangled system of primaries has been in vogue, the boys in the trenches have been permitted to do nothing but the voting, and generally then just as the bosses told us. We didn't know what was going to happen until after it had happened. Then we were called on to ratify it at the polls.

In Louisville we can all meet again and talk matters over face to face. We can exchange reminiscences of the days long past.

Moreover (and that is the one important work of the convention), we can put the skids under the Big Chief.—[Bowling Green Messenger.]

THE GREAT SENTIMENT FOR COUNTY UNIT IDEA

Shown In Election Returns—A Noted Temperance Editor's Comment.

Mr. H. A. Sommers, one of the most noted temperance editors in the State, writes as follows in his paper, the Elizabethtown News:

The overwhelming victory for A. O. Stanley for the Democratic nomination for Governor in the primary election was no surprise to us. It was not so much a personal triumph of one candidate over another as it was a victory for County Unit law over State-wide prohibition. This was made the real issue in the campaign, as much so as if there had been a direct vote on the question itself instead of a vote between the two contending candidates, Stanley and McChesney.

Mr. Stanley declared on every stump that, if elected, he would veto any bill passed by the Legislature to repeal the County Unit and would stand for any act to make the enforcement of the law more effective. Regardless of Mr. Stanley's former attitude on this question, the temperance people, who had made the platform of 1911, which resulted in the adoption of the County Unit law, took Mr. Stanley at his word and voted for him. Mr. Stanley owes his nomination and his tremendous majority to the County Unit voters. The election returns prove this statement conclusively. In Louisville, the strongest "wet" center, Stanley lost; in McCracken county, with the city of Paducah, another "wet" center, he also lost. In Daviess county, another "wet" county, he failed to get a majority of the vote and in Covington and Newport he received a smaller per cent. of the vote than he did last year when he ran against Beckham.

On the other hand Mr. Stanley carried more than three-fourths of the dry counties and more than four-fifths of the Democratic dry counties. Barren county, which gave Beckham 600 majority last year, gives Stanley 1,000; Warren, which gave Beckham 400, gives Stanley 600; and Owen, another strong "dry" county, gives Stanley more than 1,000 majority. In the dry Democratic counties alone Mr. Stanley defeated Mr. McChesney by more than 25,000 votes, which shows conclusively that the dry voters of the State nominated the Henderson man.

The issue between County Unit and State Prohibition having been fought out in the primary and settled, there is absolutely no reason why every Democrat should not give to the ticket nominated a most hearty and enthusiastic support. Mr. Stanley made a brilliant and sensible campaign. He pitched his race upon a high plane and won votes wherever he spoke. He is a splendid Democrat and has never deviated in the most hearty, enthusiastic support of his party. He made more speeches for Beckham last year after Beckham had defeated him than Senator Beckham made for himself. He is entitled to the same loyal party support from Democrats which he has always given. We have known Mr. Stanley ever since he entered upon his political career and while we have never supported him for a nomination, we know he is an honest man, and that if elected Governor, every pledge he made the people upon the stump, will be strictly adhered to.

As we know Mr. Stanley will stand by the County Unit, we will stand by Mr. Stanley.

DEMOCRATS SHOULD NOW WORK FOR HIS VICTORY

The magnificent victory of Stanley in the Democratic primaries leaves no question that the Democrats of the State are going to fight the campaign on progressive and constructive lines. The effort to inject an entirely outside issue into the campaign failed so signally that we do not believe it will be resurrected.

Kentucky by rights belongs in the Democratic column. All its history, its traditions and its environments are wound around the party of the people. Twice when we were divided on outside issues, the Republicans won. The result was not such as to justify a repetition.

As Governor, Mr. Stanley will be in the forefront for constructive legislation, and not for freak measures.

Being himself a man of ability, and with all the probability of a friendly General Assembly behind him, he will work to bring the old State into the forefront.

Time was when the State set the pace in constructive thought. It must be so again. Let us all work to this end.—[Howling Green Messenger.]

THE AUTOMOBILE AND ITS COST TO AMERICANS

The Scientific American says of the automobile bills of the United States:

"On June 1 of the current year the number of automobiles in the United States for the first time reached 2,000,000. Figuring on an average of four persons to each car, which is very conservative, there are 8,000,000 people in this country in daily enjoyment of motoring. What it costs to follow this sport is of interest, because of the stupendous figures involved.

"To run 2,000,000 cars for one year requires at the very least 1,000,000,000 gallons of 'gas,' worth $130,000,000; 200,000,000 gallons of lubricating oil, worth $8,000,000; 12,000,000 tires, worth not less than $16 apiece, or $192,000,000; accessories and extra comforts, goggles, gloves and caps, $50 per car, or $100,000,000; garage charges on short tours (exclusive of gas and oil), $100 per car per year or $200,000,000; repairs made necessary by wear, tear and accident (exclusive of tires), $50 per car per year, or $100,000,000.

"Total running expenses for all cars in use $730,000,000. Add thereto the value of the 60,000 new cars purchased during the year at an average price of $750, or $450,000,000 and we get the immense total of $1,180,000,000 spent in a single year (1915) on the sport of motoring."

THE ENORMOUS EXTENT OF MUNITIONS EXPORTS

To the Allies By American Manufacturers Shown By Reliable Figures.

Washington, Aug. 20.—The tremendous extent to which American manufacturers of munitions of war profited during the first 11 months of the European war is shown by figures obtained at the Department of Commerce.

From August to June inclusive, exports of cartridges, gunpowder and other explosives, firearms and brass plates and shells, reached a value of $67,902,270. The total value of such shipments in the preceding fiscal year was $12,885,584, showing that the American manufacturer of munitions increased his business more than 400 per cent.

In the month of June the exports of arms, ammunition and shell casings were $4,000,000 larger than during the entire fiscal year of 1913-14.

Classified under the headings used by the Department of Commerce in keeping records of these exports, the comparative figures for the full fiscal year 1914 and 11 months of the fiscal year 1915 are as follows:

	12 months, 1913-1914.	11 months, 1914-1915.
Cartridges	$ 3,521,533	$17,402,410
Gunpowder	247,200	5,088,754
Other explosives	916,280	17,705,580
Firearms	3,442,297	9,157,963
Brass plates	791,629	6,117,160
Brass articles	3,996,645	12,330,403

Totals $12,885,584 $67,902,270

Analysis of the Government's export figures month by month show that the shipments of munitions increased in volume as the war progressed and the demands of the British allies for munitions became heavier.

REGULATORS WHIP WHITE MAN AND NEGRO WOMAN

Hopkinsville, Ky., Aug. 18.—News has reached here of the operations of a so-called band of "possum hunters" a few nights ago near Wynns in North Christian county. Fifteen men masked and armed visited a number of houses of both white and colored people. It is known that one white man and one colored woman were whipped and it is reported that the lash was applied to others. Notices were left at most of the houses for the occupants to move out of the community. Two white men have left and it is reported that there will be an exodus of the negroes. Telephone messages say that it is believed that the "possum hunters" are trying to regulate the morals of the people in the Wynne neighborhood.

BODY OF FRANK FOUND HANGING FROM A TREE

Near Home Town Of Mary Phagan—Work Of Determined Mob.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 17.—The body of Leo M. Frank, convicted as the slayer of pretty Mary Phagan, who was kidnaped from the Milledgeville Prison Farm late last night by an armed band of 25 men in automobiles—the first automobile lynching mob in the history of the South—was found this morning hanging by the neck in a little oak grove two miles from Marietta. He had been lynched by the strangest mob that ever took the law into its hands.

He had been spirited nearly half across a State from the prison farm to the scene of his execution.

He had been hanged in a cold, deliberate, orderly fashion, and that within two miles of the grave of the Cobb county girl, for whose death Frank was convicted and sentenced to die, only to have his sentence commuted to life imprisonment at the State Prison Farm.

Frank met death at the hands of a mob just as he was recovering from injuries inflicted in an attack by a fellow convict a month ago, when his throat was cut with a butcher knife.

The rising sun of this morning dispelled the shades of what must have been the most eventful night for many men that the State ever has seen.

The story of the lynching of Leo Frank reads like the wildest tale of adventure. It is said to be inconceivable that a party of slightly more than a score of men could journey for hours across the State, attack the State Prison, overpower the guards, capture a noted prisoner and carry him more than 100 miles to a designated spot, and there, at daybreak, execute the death penalty with all the grim deliberation and much of the terrible panoply of judicial procedure.

Governor Will Investigate.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 18.—Plans for investigating the abduction and lynching of Leo M. Frank went forward steadily to-day. Governor Harris stated a thorough inquiry would be made and rewards be offered for the arrest and conviction of the men who took Frank from the State prison at Milledgeville and hanged him near Marietta.

"I am inexpressibly shocked," said the Governor. "This affair has placed a blot upon the fair name of our State that can never be wiped out. The lynching will be probed to the bottom and every effort within my power will be made to bring this guilty members of the mob to justice."

A NEW COAL COMPANY IN MUHLENBERG COUNTY

The Central City Argus says: A new coal company has been organized in this county. It has mines located at Drakesboro and is incorporated under the name of the "W. L. Hughes Coal Co." miners of the famous Diamond Block coal. The company will commence operations in a few days and employ 150 men. The company is composed of Muhlenberg and Owensboro capitalists. It gives promise of extending its business and of becoming quite a factor in the coal business in this section. W. L. Hughes, formerly of Kentucky Midland Coal Co. and one of the most expert and successful mine superintendents in this section, will be general manager of the coal company. Mr. Hughes came to this county from Pennsylvania about three years ago highly recommended and he made good with the Midland.

TROUSERS ANNIVERSARY —PANTS WORN 100 YEARS

Long trousers are 100 years old this year. It was just a century ago that a London tailor, one bright spring morning, walked jauntily down Bond street, in London, clad in the odd loose breeches that hung to his toes. He was a great curiosity and his "freak" apparel created no small stir. The wits of our day who ply their pens vigorously on the subject of women's dress were far outdone by the jokesmiths of a century ago, when trousers were first worn. But the valiant tailor persisted, was the butt of London town, and thereby gave to modern man the clothing for his nether limb.

It is hard at this distance of time to realize the storm of disapproval that attended the transition from breeches to trousers. The jaunty tailor was assailed by a mob and was ordered arrested for indecency. The Duke of Wellington, fresh from his laurels at Waterloo, was later impressed with the greater convenience of the new garment, and determined to popularize long trousers. So he had a pair made and wore them to a tail. Despite his high standing as a hero, he was turned away with the ultimatum, "The guests at this ball must be dressed." But slowly and surely the fashion of long trousers displaced that of breeches, stockings, shoes and huckies. The real reason was economy of time in dressing. Chauncey Depew, referring to this saving, recently said: "A century of ten minutes saved each day by countless millions, invents machinery, accumulates fortunes and fills libraries."

AUTOMOBILE RULES.

1. Upon discovering an approaching team, the automobilist must stop off side and cover his machine with a blanket painted to correspond to the scenery.

2. The speed limit on country road this year is a secret, and the penalty for violation will be $10 for every mile an offender is caught going in excess of it.

3. In case an automobile makes a team run away, the penalty will be $50 for the first mile and $100 for the second and $200 for the third, etc., that the team runs; in addition to the usual damage.

4. On approaching a corner, where he cannot command a view of the road ahead, the automobilist must stop not less than 100 yards from the turn, toot his horn, ring a bell, fire a revolver, halloo, and send up three bombs at intervals of five minutes.

5. Automobiles must certainly be seasonably painted, that is, so that they will merge with the pastoral ensemble and not be startling. They must be green in the spring, golden in summer, red in autumn and white in winter.

6. Automobiles running on the country roads at night must send up a red rocket every mile and wait ten minutes for the road to clear. They may then proceed carefully, blowing their horns and shooting Roman Candles.

7. All members of society will give up Sunday to chasing automobiles, shooting and shouting at them, making arrests, and otherwise discouraging county touring on that day.

8. In case a horse will not pass an automobile, the automobilist will take the machine apart as rapidly as possible and conceal the parts in the grass.

9. In case an automobile approaching a farmer's house when the roads are dusty, it will slow down to one mile an hour and the chauffeur will lay the dust in front of the house with a vacuum cleaner worked over the dashboard.

FARMER BOYS' ENCAMPMENT

Proud Sons of a Proud State to Occupy Tented City on Kentucky State Fair Grounds

FARM BOYS IN CAMP.

THE Farm Boys' Encampment, one of the most important as well as picturesque features of the Kentucky State Fair, annually brings to this agricultural and live stock celebration a juvenile representative from the 120 counties of the state.

To the boy standing sponsor for his home section the trip is an epoch and the honor much coveted and striven for. Hereofore the eligible boys were selected from farm boys between the ages of fifteen and eighteen years and through written competitive examinations submitted to a committee composed of a member of the State Board of Agriculture and of the faculty of the Agricultural College.

This year a new ruling requires that the boy competing for the trip and consequent honors and pleasures must be a member of either the Boys' Corn Club or the Boys' Pig Club of his county and must each grow one acre of corn or raise one pig as a minimum effort and must keep a daily record of the cost and other data. Boys eligible to this contest must be between the ages of ten and eighteen years, and no boy having attended an encampment in prior years will be considered.

No county will be permitted to enter this contest with less than fifteen members, and where the question of substitution arises the board will consider first the pig club boys in the counties that have corn clubs organized. Where there are no corn clubs or pig clubs organized the board reserves the right to appoint substitutes from other counties.

B. G. Nelson of Hopkinsville, Ky., is state agent for the Boys' Corn Clubs, and Otis Kercher of Lexington, Ky., is state agent for the Boys' Pig Clubs, and boys desiring to enter either or both of these clubs should immediately notify the respective agents at the above addresses, and upon receipt of their names all necessary instructions and rulings will be forwarded them.

The purpose of the Farm Boys' Encampment at the State Fair is to extend the educational advantages of the Fair through the farming districts of the entire state, and the results growing from the three former encampments have been highly encouraging. During the week of their stay here the boys are guests of the Fair and in their "tented city" on the grounds are provided with every comfort as well as entertained by the wonders of the celebration. The judging contests to which they are eligible are of local educational advantage, and the delegates are also taken on sightseeing excursions to the manufacturing and show places of the city of Louisville.

THE WOMAN'S SHOP

Unique Market For Feminine Wares at the Kentucky State Fair, Sept. 13-18

ALTHOUGH the feminist movement is daily and more and more universally demonstrating the fact that women are qualified to engage in any pursuit, calling or occupation heretofore individual to man, it is not to be inferred that the arts, handicrafts and handiworks heretofore associated solely with the gentler sex are to be neglected. Rather are they to be fostered in accordance with the views of representative women of the state, and in furtherance of this design a Woman's Shop has been instituted as a feature of the plans for the Kentucky State Fair, to be held in Louisville Sept. 13-18.

This shop will be located in the Woman's building on the fair grounds, but will not be auxiliary to the competitive exhibitions of the Women's Department. Rather, the shop is designed as a salesroom or "clearing house" for every variety of useful and beautiful article made by womankind, and such products as embroideries, bedspreads, rugs, table covers, pottery, jewelry, lamp shades, household or garden furniture, baskets, draperies, etc., may be entered free of charge in this shop and ticketed at the owner's valuation for a possible sale which will be without any commission charge to fair management or members in charge.

Articles entered for sale in the Woman's Shop are not eligible for competition in the catalogued classes. Articles must be sent at the owner's risk and will be carefully cared for and returned if unsold at the close of fair week.

The idea of the Woman's Shop is new and individual to the Kentucky State Fair. It was conceived by Commissioner of Agriculture John W. Newman and enthusiastically endorsed by the committee in charge, of which Mrs. S. Thurston Ballard is chairman and the following ladies are members: Mrs. J. A. Mitchell, Bowling Green; Mrs. Starling L. Marshall, Henderson; Miss Edna Doldinger, Louisville; Mrs. Barbour Minnegerode, Louisville; Mrs. Avery Robinson, Louisville; Mrs. Leonard A. Hewitt, Louisville; Mrs. Peter Leo Atherton, Louisville; Mrs. Richard Knott, Louisville; Mrs. Richard Ernst, Covington; Mrs. R. P. Halleck, Louisville; Mrs. W. L. Mills, Owensboro; Mrs. George A. Armstrong, Shelbyville; Mrs. Ann E. Bernberg, Berea; Mrs. Helen Bruce, Louisville; Miss Amanda Rodes, Louisville; Mrs. Harry Bishop, Louisville; Mrs. Alfred Brandes, Louisville; Miss Mary F. Hutscher, Paris; Mrs. R. C. Ford, Middleboro; Mrs. Sam Boylo, Louisville; Mrs. Paul Creel, Louisville; and Mrs. T. J. Smith, Frankfort.

Mrs. Thomas Jefferson Smith of Frankfort is the chairman of a promotion committee which will have representatives in every city and rural district in the state. An especial effort will be made to enlist the interest of the basket weavers and needleworkers of the mountains. Only residents of Kentucky are eligible for entry.

For entry blanks and further information address communications to Woman's Shop, State Fair offices, Paul Jones building, Louisville, Ky.

DIVINE BELIEVED COLLAPSE SURE

Louisville Man, However, Gains Weight After Taking Tanlac.

Louisville, Aug. 23.—C. D. Divine, one of the best and most favorably known men in Louisville, who is bookkeeper for the Falls City Clothing Company, recently had these words to say about Tanlac, the premier preparation:

"It was my misfortune to be afflicted with an aggravated case of stomach trouble and a highly nervous condition for several years. Gas would accumulate in my stomach, causing me great pain. These attacks followed one another in such rapid succession that my entire system became weakened and made me susceptible to coughs and colds.

"At one time I feared I was in danger of a complete nervous breakdown. In fact, I was told that the breakdown was inevitable. I had a tired, wornout feeling, my sleep was fitful, I was lacking in energy, and had no appetite. I was depressed in spirits and devoid of ambition.

"I suffered two years, the stomach trouble refusing to yield to the treatment of the best physicians in Louisville. My nerves were shattered. I felt as though my case was hopeless.

"Since using Tanlac, I feel like a different man. I have gained in weight, I sleep better, my appetite has returned, and I am filled with vigor and ambition. The tired feeling has vanished completely."

Tanlac, the premier preparation, is sold in Hartford by Ohio County Drug Co., by Z. Wilbur Mitchell, Beaver Dam, by L. C. Morton & Son, Centertown.

Two of 'Em. Among other things that the European war has obliterated is the one-term plank in the Baltimore platform. Champ Clark is credited with saying, "If the President makes good, no one can take the Democratic nomination from him; if he doesn't, no one will be willing to take it."

Speaker Clark is mistaken. There are two gentlemen, each of whom is a receptive candidate for any old nomination—Democratic, Republican, Progressive, Socialist or Grape Juice. LOVER OF A PRINCESS FILLS GRAVE OF HERO Killed Herself Two Years Ago Because She Could Not Wed Him.

Amsterdam, Aug. 20.—The battle for the possession of Warsaw brought to an end the tragic romance of Princess Sophia, only daughter of Prince Wilhelm of Saxe-Weimar-Eisenach, and Baron Hans Victor Von Hleischroeder. The son of the famous German banker was killed August 1 while fighting before Warsaw. He was at one time engaged to Princess Sophia, who killed herself in 1913 when her father, Prince Wilhelm, refused to consent to their marriage.

First news of the Baron's death was received the other day from Berlin. He was killed, it is stated, in the last days of the storming of the Polish capital, less than two years after his sweetheart shot herself at her father's castle in Heldenberg because she could not wed him. He was even barred from her funeral by members of her family.

It was on the night of September 17, 1913, that the Princess ended her life with a bullet. Grand Duke Ernest of Saxe-Weimar was said to have been responsible for preventing the wedding of the Princess to a banker's son. He was head of the house and, although her father was almost induced to permit the match, the Grand Duke refused to allow it unless Princess Sophia renounced all her titles. She refused to do.

Baron Von Hleischroeder visited America in 1910 to study banking methods. At that time he was reported to be heir to $40,000,000. Later it was hinted that the Princess had ended her life following the spreading of hints that she had visited Paris in company with another woman and the young Baron. It was said that the fact that their automobile had run down a child was responsible for the Prince learning of their presence in the French capital.

WOMAN "OVER 21" YEARS ADOPTS 43-YEAR-OLD MAN

Albert Hill Noland, 43 years old, has been adopted, under an order of the Surrogate's Court, as the son of Mrs. Clara E. Seabury, who said that she was "over 21." Mrs. Seabury, who is the widow of G. Thurston Seabury, said in her petition to Surrogate Cobatan that she has property valued at more than $50,000, and that she is "a widow of mature years."

Noland, who has lived at the home of Mrs. Seabury, changed his name to Seabury in 1912. However, at that time the laws of New York did not allow the adoption of an adult. "Notwithstanding this," said the petition, "they assumed the mutual actual relations of mother and son. He lived with her and they traveled extensively here and abroad in such relation, and she has made financial provision for him. The relationship has been mutually agreeable, beneficial and advantageous."

Mrs. Seabury said that she has no blood relatives nearer than cousins; that she was interested in the welfare of Seabury and would make him her heir. Noland's case is the first adoption of an adult, so far as known, under the new law. —[New York Tribune.

LOVER OF A PRINCESS

FILLS GRAVE OF HERO

Killed Herself Two Years Ago

Because She Could Not Wed Him.

Wed Him.

Amsterdam, Aug. 20.—The battle for the possession of Warsaw brought to an end the tragic romance of Princess Sophia, only daughter of Prince Wilhelm of Saxe-Weimar-Eisenach, and Baron Hans Victor Von Hleischroeder. The son of the famous German banker was killed August 1 while fighting before Warsaw. He was at one time engaged to Princess Sophia, who killed herself in 1913 when her father, Prince Wilhelm, refused to consent to their marriage.

First news of the Baron's death was received the other day from Berlin. He was killed, it is stated, in the last days of the storming of the Polish capital, less than two years after his sweetheart shot herself at her father's castle in Heldenberg because she could not wed him. He was even barred from her funeral by members of her family.

It was on the night of September 17, 1913, that the Princess ended her life with a bullet. Grand Duke Ernest of Saxe-Weimar was said to have been responsible for preventing the wedding of the Princess to a banker's son. He was head of the house and, although her father was almost induced to permit the match, the Grand Duke refused to allow it unless Princess Sophia renounced all her titles. She refused to do.

Baron Von Hleischroeder visited America in 1910 to study banking methods. At that time he was reported to be heir to $40,000,000. Later it was hinted that the Princess had ended her life following the spreading of hints that she had visited Paris in company with another woman and the young Baron. It was said that the fact that their automobile had run down a child was responsible for the Prince learning of their presence in the French capital.

Star "Sidewheelers" to Strive For

World's Records at Kentucky State Fair

THE fastest track and fastest performers in the country will make of the trotting and pacing events for the thirteenth annual Kentucky State Fair, Sept. 13-18, the greatest exhibitions of the kind in fair history. The entries for the track program closed June 1, with 140 contestants listed. This number breaks all former records and assures fair visitors one of the most elaborate as well as high class showings of "sidewheelers" in history.

The entire list is made up of the creme de la creme of trotting and pacing horseflesh, and among the "cracks" who will compete for honors and try for world's records will be Hugh Miller, the sensational three-year-old who broke all records last year at the Kentucky State Fair by trotting a half mile in 2:14. Ham Patterson will also be "among those present." He won the $1,000 trotting stake last year in 2:14. Another star will be Ophelia, the great trotting mare who has already made 2:08 1/2 during the early part of this season. Joe H. has "won his spurs" on the fastest half mile tracks in Ohio and Michigan, and Bonnie Boy likewise has proved his class on the grand circuit.

The track events will include two colt tryouts for two and three year old trotters with a purse of $500 each. These features are rendered doubly interesting from the fact that there is always a possibility of developing another world's wonder like Ertawab, who made his first appearance as a two-year-old on the Kentucky State Fair track and who has since proved to be the fastest trotter in existence today.

The rules of the National Trotting Association govern the Kentucky State Fair track events. R. J. Bassett of Leitchfield is the member in charge of the Speed Department, and C. H. Van Meter of Lebanon is the Superintendent.

A FINE ADDRESS
BY SUPT. SHULTS

Delivered Before Teachers' Institute

IN SESSION AT OWENSBORO

Says Brighter Day Is Dawning In Kentucky's Educational Affairs.

HONOR TO FAITHFUL TEACHER

The Owensboro Messenger of Friday says:

"One of the most brilliant addresses that has been delivered at the Daviess County Teachers' Institute was that of Superintendent Ozma Shults, of Ohio county. He spoke in part as follows:

The pessimist tells us that in Kentucky there are more than 200,000 men and women who can not read and write; the pessimist tells us that for every dollar spent for schools in Kentucky we pay $5.50 in paupers' expenses. The pessimist points to our court calendar of crimes, our crowded court rooms, jails and penitentiaries. The pessimist tells us of mountain feuds and night rider troubles, and with vivid imagination and a long list of charges like these the pessimist would have us believe that Kentucky could and should be justly called "The Dark and Bloody Ground."

Yet, will you bear with me that a few moments and let's turn the picture, and see if we can not find a brighter and more hopeful view of the situation which is so overdrawn and magnified by the hand of the pessimist, and his twin brother the Doubting Thomas.

In truth and in fact I am an optimist and I do not hesitate to say that in Kentucky there has dawned a brighter and better day.

The patriotic words of the poet have oft been quoted: "Breathes there a man with soul so dead, who never to himself has said, this is my own, my native land?"

Yet I feel that I strike a responsive chord in the breasts of all loyal Kentuckians to say "Breathes there a man with soul so dead, who never to himself has said 'I'm lucky to have been born and raised in old Kentucky?'"

It is said that Alexander wept for other worlds to conquer, after his victorious banner had been carried to all parts of the then known world. Napoleon rearranged the map of Europe with his sword amid the lamentations of those by whose blood he had been exalted.

Yet, after these and other military heroes are forgotten, their names and deeds have faded away into oblivion, the life, the work, the influence of men like Professor McHenry Rhoads, T. J. Coats, A. C. Burton, Presidents Cherry, Barker and Crabbe, Superintendent Hamlett, R. L. McFarland, Green and Craig, and a great host of other true and tried men, who are guiding and directing the educational affairs of our State, the life, the work, the influence of these earnest, honest teachers, still will be indelibly stamped upon the very life of our State, and thousands yea, tens of thousands of men and women will rise up to call them blessed.

And with men like these teaching our boys and girls and guiding and directing our schools and educational institutions of our State, he is indeed a pessimist and a doubter who does not realize that a brighter and a better day is dawning in Kentucky.

Invading the realms of mythology we find that the god of the ancients, Jupiter, once offered the crown of immortality to the one who had been of the most use to the world. The myth relates that the court of Olympus was crowded with competitors eager to win the prize.

The warrior came and boasted of his bravery and heroism in fighting the battles of his country, but Jupiter thundered. The rich man came and boasted of his munificence and gifts to charity, but Jupiter showed him the widow's mite and the poor man's charity to be greater still. The orator came and boasted of his power to sway the minds of the multitude at will but Jupiter marshalled the hosts of heaven with a nod. The muselman came and boasted that he practiced the only science that had been transplanted to heaven, but Jupiter looked grave. Then Jupiter saw in the rear of the building an old gray-headed man, who seemed intensely interested, yet had taken no part in the exercises, and Jupiter turned to him and said: "And who art thou, and what doest thou here?" Then the old man arose and with uncovered head exclaimed: "I am only an interested spectator at these exercises. All these were once my pupils."

Then Jupiter arose, and to the surprise of many exclaimed: "Crown him! Crown the faithful teacher and make room for him at my right hand."

Making due allowance for the fancy woven into the myth by the writer—yet, who can undertake to estimate the value of the life and influence of men like Professors Rhoads, Cherry, Hamlett, Barker, Crabbe and hundreds of other earnest, honest, consecrated teachers, whose names rise up vividly in your own memories at the mere suggestion, luminous with the glory of deeds that can not die; hallowed by the loving worship of the good, the true and the pure of all epochs and all climes.

Of them and their co-workers we can truly exclaim: "Such lives as theirs can never be lost, they blend with unborn blood, and through the censeless flow of years, move with the mighty flood. Their lives are ours, they live in us; we feel the potent thrill and through the coming centuries the world shall feel it still."

The Messenger says: Just at the conclusion of that exhaustive and polished panegyric on Kentucky's greatness, by Supt. Shults, he declared in his introduction that he had never made a speech, Supt. McFarland said most aptly: "Wonder what he will do when he gets a little practice."

HOPEWELL.

August 23.—Bro. Montgomery preached two good sermons Saturday night and Sunday at eleven.

Miss May Ford, just before arriving at church last Saturday night, passed a horse close to the road. It kicked her, causing a severe wound but not serious.

On next Sunday there will be an all-day missionary service at Hopewell. Bros. Napier of Hartford, Russell of Beaver Dam, Vnnhoy of Dundee, and Montgomery of Centertown, are the preachers expected to be here.

Last Wednesday and Thursday we had a very heavy rain and wind, blowing corn down badly.

Several of our neighbors attended the Butler County Association at New Harmony church last Wednesday.

Mrs. Chilla Gordon and daughter Miss Lucy, both of Daviess county, are visiting Mrs. Gordon's brother, Mr. P. S. Coleman.

Miss Annie Coleman, who has been in Alaska for three years, is now here with her brother, Mr. P. S. Coleman.

ANOTHER OHIO COUNTY
YOUNG MAN MAKING GOOD

A paper published at Marquette, Mich., has the following to say of Mr. P. H. Ross, formerly of this county:

A telegram from Washington this morning announced the appointment by President Wilson of P. H. Ross, of this city, as receiver of public moneys to succeed T. H. Dawson, and of John L. Heffernan, also of this city, as register in the local land office to succeed Ozma A. Bowen.

Mr. Ross is head of the Marquette Business College and is well known here. Mr. Heffernan has conducted law offices in Marquette for many years and is prominent in local Democratic circles.

Messrs. Dawson and Bowen, whose terms expired yesterday, were appointed to the offices four years ago.

Honor Paid In Wood.

Copenhagen, Aug. 21.—A gigantic statue of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, whom the Germans call "Our Iron Hindenburg," will be unveiled in Berlin on August 28, the anniversary of the battle of Tannenberg. The statue is 12 meters high and the sword borne by the General is 6 meters in length. Owing to the famine in copper and iron, the statue has been constructed of wood.

The Gldeons, an organization of Christian commercial travelers, have placed 286,156 Bibles in hotels in the United States and Canada.

It's a good thing to believe in yourself, but don't be too credulous.

BANKS ARE PREPARED TO AID THE FARMERS

Lending Capacity Sufficient to Finance Cotton and Other Crops.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Controller of the Currency Williams has announced that the present unemployed lending capacity of national banks and reserve banks was sufficient to finance at market value the entire cotton crop and half, if not all, of the tobacco and wheat crops, and to conservatively justify an expansion of credit of two or three billion dollars.

A statement issued by the Controller referred to the prospect for unusual demands for funds, particularly in the event cotton should be declared contraband by the European belligerents, and declared a survey of the condition of the national and reserve banks was distinctly encouraging. Never before, Mr. Williams said, had the banks been so strong and so thoroughly prepared to handle any problem that might be presented to them.

Just before the statement was issued the British Embassy had authorized the announcement that the Allies had agreed upon the principle that cotton was contraband.

Special requirements which the banks may have to meet in the near future were summarized by Mr. Williams as follows:

"First—The yearly recurring demand for funds with which to move the crops, which this year, except as to cotton, are unusually large and commanding full prices.

"Second—The unusual demand for current funds which may arise to enable cotton growers to meet any congestion in the movement or marketing of the crop in the event that cotton should be declared contraband.

"Third—The demands which are likely to be made upon the national banks, both directly and indirectly, in connection with the extension of credits to foreign purchasers of supplies of all kinds, and to pay for the American securities which may be returned to us by foreign creditors."

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Whereas, Our beloved brother and co-laborer, Dr. S. D. Taylor, has been called from all earthly endeavors.

Therefore, We desire to express publicly our appreciation of his many noble qualities as a man, to be a pattern for our youth to strive to measure up to. Whether in civic, educational or religious matters, he has been a leader in our county for about thirty years. But as a physician we knew him best—always interested in the advancement of our profession, a member of our Post-Graduate Club, also County, State and National Societies, an able writer and speaker upon medical subjects in these organizations, thoroughly dependable. He was active in the relief, cure and prevention of diseases, a member of the Ohio County Pension Board and Board of Health; wise in council, competent in judgment, true and honest in all his dealings with his fellowmen, he burned his life up. Unless to his own household or his patients, we believe we recognize his sterling worth more than others, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we offer the above as our appreciation of him to all who read it, and to his wife, children, relatives and friends, our sincere sympathy in their loss, for it is ours, too, with the best that true friendship gives.

Done by order of Ohio County Medical Society.
